

EXECUTIVE BRIEF

Attendance and Dropout Early-Warning Support

What leaders should authorize, require, and refuse

Production Unit	PU-B07-C36
Decision status	Controlled learning asset
Audience	Executives, programme owners, statisticians, technical leads
Data	Synthetic examples only

Executive takeaway: Use attendance and dropout early-warning evidence to organize timely, proportionate support while preserving uncertainty, dignity, due process, and accountable educational authority.

Why it matters

A risk score can stigmatize learners or trigger punitive action when context, uncertainty, and human review are missing.

Illustrative application

A school team reviews sustained absence with contextual evidence before offering support through an authorized pathway.

Minimum approval conditions

- Named accountable owner and lawful purpose
- Defined evidence, provenance, reference period, population, and geography
- Decision-relevant validation and visible uncertainty
- Documented abstention, referral, override, and incident processes
- Accessibility, equity, security, retention, and retirement review

Non-negotiable boundary

The analytical system may inform review. It may not independently authorize benefits, sanctions, enforcement, clinical treatment, school exclusion, displacement, or another consequential action.
