

EXECUTIVE BRIEF

Coordinate Support Without Scoring Human Worth

What leaders should authorize, require, and refuse

Executive takeaway: Coordinate homelessness and housing support through needs, preferences, urgency, eligibility, service capacity, consent, privacy, referral, and accountable casework—never a score of human worth.

Why it matters

Opaque prioritization can dehumanize people, encode discrimination, expose sensitive histories, and deny support without explanation or appeal.

Illustrative application

A multidisciplinary team uses a transparent needs review to offer options and track referrals without ranking people’s value.

Minimum approval conditions

- Named accountable owner and lawful purpose
- Defined evidence, provenance, reference period, population, and geography
- Decision-relevant validation and visible uncertainty
- Documented abstention, referral, override, and incident processes
- Accessibility, equity, security, retention, and retirement review

Non-negotiable boundary

The analytical system may inform review. It may not independently authorize benefits, sanctions, enforcement, clinical treatment, school exclusion, displacement, or another consequential action.
